Report about the Extreme driving training for State Revenue Service of Latvia. Riga, September, 2014.

Representative office of IBSSA in Latvia, official IBSSA training center, Bodyguard school SECURITYTRAINING.LV has organized Extreme driving training for State Revenue Service of Latvia.

Training was separated in two parts: theory and practice.

Theory of extreme driving is very important part of training. Participants was informed about main principles of extreme driving. Also discussed issues of correct technical operation for vehicle “surviving” in extreme driving situations. Main idea of theoretical training is: in extreme situation on the road, your vehicle is your friend, your defense and your weapon.

For practical part of training was used professional extreme driving equipment.

First task for participants was “snake”. Participants had to take turns at high speed on a slippery surface.

Second task was “hill”. Participants had to keep the car in a controlled drift on a slippery surface.

Last task was “circle”. Very difficult driving task. Rotating circle throws the rear wheels of the car to the right or to the left. Task - to keep the car in a forward direction.

All participants got new interesting information about car driving. Training process held very professionally – without problems or incidents. Thanks very much for “Baltic Ring 333” and State Revenue Service of Latvia for perfect event!

Sincerely, Andrey Shishov, Country representative of IBSSA for Latvia.
